

Meet Kirby! He's a 2-year-old, 50-pound pitty mix with the best smile. This love bug is house and crate trained, but is not destructive and can be left loose in the home. He's been with all sorts of different dogs and would love to be a part of your furry family!

Through no fault of his own, Kirby hasn't had much stability in his life. He's been a stray twice, a shelter dog twice, and even sold on Craigslist, so he has some trouble with his confidence. As a result, it takes a little time and patience for him to feel safe when meeting new people.

Once Kirby is comfortable with you, he's so incredibly loving. He likes nothing more than to cuddle and give kisses! He'll binge watch Netflix with you all night long.

Kirby goes to doggy day care and lives with other dogs. He was also curious about a cat he met, and with time could be very accepting of a feline friend. Take a chance on Kirby! You won't be disappointed.

This pup should live in a calm, quiet home without children or a lot of people coming and going. He also requires a fenced-in yard. Kirby's $200 adoption fee includes his vaccinations, neutering, and microchip. Apply for this cutie at graspinc.org!
